マリー・ストープス Marie Stopes(1880-1958)は 20 世紀に活躍した最も重要な女性の一人と言える。『結婚愛』("Married Love":1918 年)を著し、現在では一般に普及した避妊の権利を推進、バース・コントロールのクリニックを開設するなど、イギリスで最初の性に関するカウンセラーであった。

1880 年、人類学者の父と、有名なシェークスピアの専門家にしてフェミニズム運動にかかわる母との間に生まれた。エディンバラのセント・ジョージス・スクールで学んだ後、ユニヴァーシティ・カレッジ・ロンドンで、植物学、地質学を専攻。それらの研究で高い評価を得た後、ミュンヘンの植物学研究所に進み 1904 年に自然科学の博士号を取得、女性として初めてマンチェスター大学の理学部教授に迎えられた。

ミュンヘンでは日本人、東京帝国大学の植物学者/遺伝学者・藤井健次郎に知り合っている。ストープスは彼に好意をいただいたようで、先に帰国した藤井を追う形で 1907 年来日、2 年間の共同研究を行っている。北海道での調査、東京帝国大学での講義はこの頃の事である。また東京帝国大学の理科大学長にして日本科学界の重鎮、桜井錠二男爵から能の手ほどきを受け、公演にも招待されている。やがて帰国後、西洋への最初の能の翻訳者となった。

しかし藤井との関係はうまくいかず失意のうちに帰国、その後のイギリスでの結婚も不幸な結果に終わり、彼女はその関心の矛先を、幸福な結婚・健全な夫婦生活・性・そして産児制限のあり方といった問題に向けるようになる。同様の問題に悩み、苦しむ多くの人たちの存在を知った彼女は、講演活動・巡回展示・相談所設置などの活動を展開した。

避けられる事の多かったテーマに正面から対峙した著作『結婚愛』は実に 28 度も版を重ね、『賢明な親』("Wise Parenthood":1918 年)とともに、13 の言語に翻訳され、100 万部を売り上げた。日本でも『結婚愛』は矢口達訳で刊行されたが、大正十三年に発禁処分、多くの伏字を施した改訂再版となったが、しかし当時の大ベストセラーとなった。

Introduction

Marie Stopes, who died in 1958, is one of the most significant women of the 20th Century. Her work in promoting readily available contraception has helped millions of women all over the world.

This collection contains 141 titles. It includes the 1st. Editions and the numerous revised editions which document the development of Marie Stopes's thought and show how social medicine, sexual practice and understanding developed during the first half of this century. The extent and importance of these textual changes have hardly yet been recognised. The collection includes translations - a testament to her international importance. This is a fine collection - every item is significant - there is no padding.

Born in 1880, Marie Stopes early made her name as a botanist. She was the first woman to join the scientific staff of the University of Manchester. Her work on coal gave her an international reputation. A first unconsummated marriage, however, changed the focus of her intellectual life - and changed the shape of the lives of millions of other women. Marie Stopes turned her energies and attention to successful marriages, healthy sex, child rearing, family planning and birth control. Her books sold in many editions and hundreds of thousands of copies - she discovered an audience in need of help and she reached it with her books, her clinic, travelling displays and self-publicity. Even the poorest, least educated woman knew there was some place to go for help and support in spacing out her family. As a writer in the New Statesman said in 1933 "It is she, above all others, who has brought to women the right to be mistresses, and not slaves, of their own fertility"

Marie Stopes had extricated herself from an unconsummated marriage and decided to write a book that would help other women to sexual fulfilment - based on scientific research and understanding. In the process she had to find a level of language that was neither that of phallo-centric pornography nor that of the euphemistic prose of the romantic novel. She wanted to discuss bodily processes and events that were hedged in by myths and taboos and the threat of prosecution under the Obscene Publications Act. The result was Married Love which was published in 1918 - went through twenty-eight editions in thirty-seven years - and is now a classic.

After Married Love she published Wise Parenthood. The first edition appeared in November 1918 and its subsequent publishing history falls only slightly short of the success of the earlier work, with total sales of three-quarters of a million copies and the normal foreign translations during its 30 years in print. If anything Wise Parenthood was even more influential than Married Love for it dealt with safe reliable birth control - a prerequisite for the joys described in Married Love.

In 1935 a panel of distinguished American academics were asked to list the twenty-five most influential books published in the previous fifty-years. They included both Married Love and Wise Parenthood in their list.

In 1921 she founded the first birth control clinic in the world which today still provides advice and medical assistance. Her later career - books on motherhood, child rearing, plays, poetry - was filled with battles with the law, the medical profession, rival birth-control organisations and the Roman Catholic Church. On most of the issues in which she became embroiled she was vindicated; her opponents, unable to meet her arguments with fact or logic, resorted to personal malice. Here in Dorking -her base for most of her adult life - she is remembered by the women she helped as a saviour - and by others she touched as a potty eccentric. In the mid- 1920s she was already memorialised by the children's playground ditty:

Jeanie, Jeanie full of hopes
Read a book by Marie Stopes
But to judge from her condition
She must have read the wrong edition.

Beatrice Webb, with characteristic waspishness, referred to her as the 'virago intacta'. The sometime head of the rival Family Planning Association, Mrs. Margaret Pyke, commented: 'In a final estimate, Marie Stopes may well prove to have been one of the most outstanding influences of the twentieth century - a judgement with which, one feels sure, she would have been in complete agreement'.

The collection includes:

- * autograph letters
- * presentation copies
- * books from her library
- * Christmas cards from her
- * 1st Editions
- * editions with revised texts
- * editions with new prefatory material
- * translations * revised translations
- * overseas editions
- * editions not recorded in the published bibliography
- * books and ephemera about her

Marie Stopes saw her books as living things - to evolve as conditions altered and her own work developed. Revisions and, when battles had been won, excisions.

In 1919, in the Author's Note to the greatly revised fifth edition of Wise Parenthood (item 33) she says "...In my opinion it is still not only far from perfect, it is a mere embryo....I hope that, as the result of investigations and researches, it will be possible to introduce many improvements in the succeeding editions...." Sixteen years later, in 1935, she writes in the new Author's Preface to the nineteenth edition of the same book (item 44) "The work moves forward as experience accumulates from the ever-increasing numbers attending our clinics and writing to me. Some useful practical "points have been added to this edition...."

The same authorial improvements apply to the successive editions of Contraception (items 65 to 71): continuous revisions in the light of new knowledge. For the 1927. "New and Enlarged Edition" (item 66) she says in her Author's Preface "In the section dealing with the Clinic will be found a brief account of the most important physiological discovery arising out of my clinical experience...." Excisions were made when battles were won. In the Author's Preface to the enlarged edition of 1931 (item 67) she says "I am able to cut out a considerable amount of matter from the text of the earlier editions which might legitimately be described as 'propaganda', for in the decade's work for Constructive Birth Control the propaganda has so successfully penetrated the strongholds of various powers in the community that its work being accomplished it can now be omitted".

Over the years Marie Stopes received letters from grateful women and other admirers. She learnt from her correspondents all the time and altered her books in later editions accordingly. She asked her correspondents to help by giving their age and full details of their lives as she discovered that different types of women had different needs.

The gathering together in this collection of all these revised texts will enable scholars to study how Marie Stopes's ideas developed and how social medicine, pharmaceuticals, sexual practice and understanding developed during the first half of this century. The importance of these revisions has hardly been recognised before.

The collection includes translations of her texts into Dutch, German, Danish, Finnish, Italian, and Portuguese. The availability of Marie Stopes's writings in translation has not been studied properly. The "Checklist" of her Writings (item 132) only purports to "serve as a preliminary groundwork for a future bibliography" and does not list out any translations but notes that they exist for the various titles.

The collection concludes with a selection of Stopesiana - mainly works about Marie Stopes. But also in this section are two very interesting pieces of ephemera. The first is a broadside verse to the tune: Oranges and Lemons Say the Bells of Saint Clements published by the CBC [item 127]. The second is a very curious item entitled Married Love [item 128] and clearly referring to Stopes's book by the same name. However, it is a virulent anti-birth control diatribe on the immorality of the practice of family planning.

This is an important collection of the writings of Marie Stopes. The major aspects of her life: her sociological work relating to birth control and marriage, her botanical researches and her literary efforts are all covered in depth. The collection will be of great interest and use to researchers in the fields of birth control and contraception, social medicine, women's rights, women's studies and social and cultural history.

The portrait of Marie Stopes on the front of this catalogue is a portrait of Marie Stopes in 1946 by Gregorio Prieto reproduced as the frontispiece to item 125.

Dear Mr. Moulton,

Your generous response has cheered me & filled me with pleasant anticipations of what you say about the Poetry Soc. There are some things here which I think you should see — also I should most delightedly welcome you to this house. It has literary associations & is the "beloved Norbury" of Fanny Burney, visited by Tallyrand, Mad. de Staël & many more. Also it has the only painted room of its kind in England. So I hope even were seen talks not enough to justify your journey you would find on the house itself a reward.

1 ALs from Marie Carmichael Stopes, Norbury Park, near Dorking, Surrey to Dr. Esdaile, 26th Feb[ruary 19]43

"Thank you for your letter which arrived quite quickly - but really, one so distinguished as yourself, with an address both in Who's Who & the telephone book, should scold the Postman who returns your letter to sender as 'dead'.

"Yes: I live in the house Fanny Burney so loved, & the lovely painted drawing room where she met her husband is still there.

"In case it may interest you I send a recent poem of my own: if the technique of poetry has ever attracted you you will recognise in its form a new stanza. The "moderns" weren't new & can be tallied far back, but this is new & some of our real poets have been very appreciative.

"I come over to East Grinstead sometimes & as it isn't far from here, hope we may meet again after so long".

edition”.

45 Wise Parenthood. The treatise on birth control for married people. A practical sequel to “Married Love”. By Marie Carmichael Stopes. With an introduction by Arnold Bennett. Twentieth edition, revised. 621st thousand. London: Putnam. [March 1937]

Eaton and Warnick 258. Original maroon cloth. [98] pp. 10 pp. of advertisements at end. Eaton and Warnick do not give a print run for this item. A new author's preface is included: “Some of those who hesitate about forming their opinions may like to see the permissive memorandum issued by the Ministry of Health in 1930, so it has been added as an Appendix. It may help them also to know that post-graduate technical work for the medical profession on the subject was initiated at my pioneer clinic and six hundred doctors have availed themselves of it”. Spine a little frayed.

46 Wise Parenthood. The treatise on birth control for married people. A practical sequel to “Married Love”. By Marie Carmichael Stopes. With an introduction by Arnold Bennett. Twenty-third edition, revised. 651st thousand. London: Putnam. [July 1941]

Eaton and Warnick 263. Original maroon cloth. [98] pp. 10 pp. of advertisements at end. Eaton and Warnick do not give a print run for this item. Includes a new preface by the author: “In this time of war when condoms are being so widely distributed to the men in the fighting services, it must not be forgotten that only the methods used by the wife are really physiologically sound”.

47 Wise Parenthood. The treatise on birth control for married people. A practical sequel to “Married Love”. By Marie Carmichael Stopes. With an introduction by Arnold Bennett. Twenty-fourth edition, revised. 696th thousand. London: Putnam & Co. Ltd. [June 1947]

Eaton and Warnick 271. Original red cloth. [98] pp. 9 pp. of advertisements at end. Includes a new preface by the author: “In recent years I deeply grieve to note the marked increase in commercialisation of contraceptive advice. Injurious “methods” have received a surprising backing in quarters one would have thought better oriented. The simplicity, safety, and wholesomeness of all the feminine methods that I advise, perhaps need to be stressed. Let me emphasise the safety slogan I coined some time ago: Never put into the vagina chemicals you would not put into the mouth”. Stopes's apparent Freudian reference to “...a marked penetration of commercialization of contraceptive advice....” in some previous editions has been altered to “...a marked increase in commercialisation of contraceptive advice...” and the spelling has been anglicised.

48 Wise Parenthood. A treatise on birth control for married people. By Marie Carmichael Stopes. 25th edition. 706th thousand. London: Putnam & Co. Ltd. [September 1951]

Eaton and Warnick 272. Original red cloth. [101] pp. 7 pp. of advertisements at end. Includes a new preface by the author adding that: “I should even go further than that, you should never put any poisonous substance whatever into the vagina, either in the form of douche or suppository. Since the last edition of this book appeared the Royal Commission on Population has issued its Report and also several volumes of Memoranda and Reports of Sub-Committees. These are published by H.M. Statio- nery Office, 1949-50, and merit careful attention. As the founder of the first birth control clinic in the world I am particularly pleased to note that among their findings the Commissioners say, 'The giving of advice on contraception to married persons who want it should be accepted as a duty of the National Health Service, and the existing restrictions on the giving of such advice by public authority clinics should be removed'".

First American edition. Not in Eaton and Warnick. Original brown ribbed grain cloth. 487 pp. 10 plates. Note on verso of title-page that this is "uniform with Third Enlarged Rewritten English Edition". However, there is a "Preface to the First American Edition". There is also the "Federal Court Judgment. "The important decision of Judge John M. Woolsey in regard to this book....Such a book, although it may run counter to the views of many persons who disagree entirely with the theory underlying birth control, certainly does not fall within the test of obscenity and immorality laid down by me in the case of United States v. One obscene book entitled "Married Love", 48 F. (2d) 821 at 824, for the reading of it would not stir the sex impulses of any person with a normal mind. Actually the emotions aroused by the book are merely feeling of sympathy and pity, evoked by the many instances in it of the sufferings of married women due to ignorance of its teachings. This, I believe, will be the inevitable effect of reading it on all persons of sensibility unless by their prejudices the information it contains is tabooed". Ex-library copy.

69 Contraception (birth control): its theory, history and practice. A manual for the medical and legal professions. By Marie Carmichael Stopes. Revised and enlarged, fourth edition. Eaton and Warnick 387. Original brown cloth. 487 pp. 10 plates. Includes new preface: "Some important points, however, have arisen, and these are dealt with in paragraphs so interpolated into the text as not to alter the pagination, which remains uniform with that of the Third Edition. Space for the new matter, where necessary, was made by condensation of the old, because I felt the book was long enough, much as I should like to say more about almost every point in it".

70 Contraception (birth control): its theory, history and practice. A manual for the medical and legal professions. By Marie Carmichael Stopes. Revised and enlarged fifth edition. With an introduction by the late Prof. Sir William Bayliss and introductory notes by Sir James Barr, Dr. C. Rolleston and Dr. Jane Hawthorne. London: Putnam & Co., Ltd. [August 1941]

Eaton and Warnick 389. Original brown cloth. 491 pp. 10 plates. Includes new preface by the author: "Preparing this, the Fifth Edition, in the midst of the paper shortage of Total War, curbs my desire to double the size of this book and compels me to limit the inclusions of new matter to essentials...."

71 Contraception (birth control): its theory, history and practice. A manual for the medical and legal

Eaton and Warnick 489. Original maroon cloth. 293 pp. 7 pp. of advertisements. 5pp. of List of Works by the Same Author. Sunned. Includes a bibliography and a new preface by the author: "The very kind reception of this book by the Press, medical and lay, pleased and somewhat surprised me, for several members of the medical profession had told me personally that they were infuriated by it. None of the few scoffers have substantiated their objections by laying their fingers on specific errors for me to correct in this second edition. The only fault mentioned I could take to heart was that I reiterate some important points. But experts with their trained and critical minds forget perhaps that here I write primarily for the ordinary public whose minds are not able so swiftly to seize technical arguments. It is in lay minds I try first to unravel fallacious and warped attitudes inculcated by old errors before endeavouring to straighten things out for them".

CHIMES OF THE TIMES

Oranges and Lemons
Say the bells of Saint Clements.

When shall I grow rich?
Say the bells of Shoreditch.

I'm sure I don't know
Say Big Ben and Old Bow.

I can tell you to-day
Hear our Saint Marie say:—

When the People will breed
No more mouths than they feed,

When the mothers will bear
No more babes than they rear.

MARRIED LOVE...

A WORD OF FRIENDLY ADVICE TO THE WISE

"I desire to bear witness to the great comradeship I have enjoyed with my beloved wife, Alice Yoxall, who since the age of 17 years has proved to be the angel of my life. I thank her for her love and sympathy and for the patient devotion she has lavished upon me and for her noble motherhood to my four beloved children who have risen up to call her blessed. To my children I entrust her when I shall have ceased to protect her and I commend her to them in full knowledge that they will love, honour and cherish her daily to the end."

—Extract from the will of a Handley man. (Daily Dispatch, 2/12/36).

"Our two lives were so linked together and we had been so united during our whole existence that the agony of separation is intense. But God has been very good to me; He has made me realise the happiness of my darling now in glory. All I pray for now is to love God better so as to be able soon to rejoin my loved one in Heaven."

—Extract from a letter of Madame de Sonis to her children. (Life of General de Sonis).

The striking words quoted above speak for themselves. There you have the testimony of a man and the testimony of a woman telling others of the happiness of married life, a happiness offered to all married couples.

The Serpent in Paradise

Married life may be likened to a journey in company with a very dear friend. A man and woman walk through life hand in hand to Heaven. The success of the journey depends very much on the start. If you take the wrong turning at the start, you may quickly find yourselves in a quagmire or on the edge of a precipice. The very first marriage in history was ruined by the evil advice of Satan: to-day, also, many marriages are being ruined at the very outset by the evil advice of ignorant or selfish meddlers.

Perhaps the most common trap set by the evil spirit is the temptation to practise contraception ("birth control"). The excuses urged for practising this unnatural vice may be many, e.g., money difficulties, weak health, social "duties," public opinion, etc., but the plain truth is that birth control is a serious crime against nature, and therefore against the Creator of nature. The inner voice of conscience cries out against it. Moreover, it is a fool's game, bringing suffering and disaster upon those who practise it.

Let us see HOW the disaster comes and WHY it is a fool's game, "not worth the candle," as they say. First of all, consider how precious and sacred is the gift of married love.
